Men's Issues

Program: Erazno y la Chokolata

When: April 20, 2015 at 5 pm

Description: Dr Frederic came up with a study that says if you ejaculate 12 times a month reduces 50% cardiovascular problems 1/3 prostate cancer. Sandra Toledo speaks about this said those calculations are not one hundred percent adequate, auto stimulation or sexual contact is cardio vascular....to reduce endorphins increase from ejaculation lose energy it makes you nauseated and get sleepy if you don't have an ejaculation or orgasm it can cause frustration and the male or female become more aggressive so really what she is trying to say is that these studies cannot not exactly be adequate for the reason that it depends on the stage the person is in for example a boxer is told to not have sexual contact or that to keep his energy and stamina full loaded so its good to not have the pleasure to release the endorphins. For people who need to let that stress out or in this case the orgasm it is needed to let them out to feel more relaxed. That's why there are times when they say that people who tend to have a bad attitude or bad mood can be caused because there is not sufficient pleasure performed in their lives.

When: June 3, 2015 at 4 pm

Description: Cristina Diaz and myths: should we wake the baby up to eat or not? and when a child suffers an accident with burns is it true that beans helps it cure. A mom should not let more than 3 hours pass without the baby being fed. When a baby lasts more than 3 hours without eating is not ok. Well after a baby passes their 3 weeks of life they can go on 4 hours without eating hopefully if your baby can last more than 4 hours without eating after this stage they are good. The myth about curing burns with beans is a myth and says we need to treat it properly with the right ointment not something that won't work on just anyone so it's a myth but yet if it's a second degree burn where you get a bubble you need to pop it before it creates bacteria.

The function of a pacemaker

When: June 22, 2015 at 4 pm

Description: Pacemakers consist of a pager-sized housing device that contains a battery and the electronic circuitry that runs the device, along with one or two long thin electrical wires that travel from the pacemaker housing device to the heart. The housing device is implanted below the skin in the shoulder area. The thin wires, which can conduct electrical impulses, are then threaded from the housing device through a vein that runs in the chest, to the heart. In some patients, only one of these long, thin electrical wires, called leads, are implanted into one of the chambers of the heart. Most patients who receive pacemakers have two leads implanted, one going to the right atrium of the heart and one going to the right ventricle of the heart. The pacemaker and leads can be programmed in several complex ways to analyze the heartbeat and then determine if the pacemaker should electrically stimulate the heart to contract.
